SYNOD	$1,928.68	2.4c	4.0c	20c

Here's the May table of receipts. It's not so hot, nor is it so cold. You might say it's a little tepid. The report would have been better, too, had there not been a bank holiday on May 30th, when the Orphanage could not make a bank deposit and consequently closed its books for the month on May 29th.

Gifts from Synod last month totaled only $1,928.68, which was $363.01 less than for May, 1935. However, due to a good advantage over April, 1935, the Orphanage is running slightly ahead in its receipts. It is $118.01 ahead, to be exact to the penny. It figures out for a one-tenth of a cent increase. Not much, to be sure, but an increase nevertheless.

Twenty cents per church member have been needed in the first two months of 1936-1937. The Orphanage has actually received four cents per member. To have properly met all the average expenditures for a month, over $12,000.00 more was needed Most of this absent money will be forward to the Orphanage following the Thanksgiving season but it would be wonderful if what is received at Thanksgiving-time could be distributed over the full 12 months of the year.

Albemarle Presbytery led the Synod in April, and it is still leading in May. It has sent an average of seven cents per member during the first two months. Its closet rival is Concord Presbytery with 5.5 cents per member.

In June, 1935, $2,628.70 was received at the Orphanage. A prediction is made that Synood will send over $3,000.00 in June, 1936. It's hoped that this prediction is wrong and that Synod's gifts will be $4,000.00 in June instead of the predicted sum of $3,000.00.

KINGS MTN. PRESBYTERY AND OLIVIA S. S. LEAD

Olivia Sunday School in Fayetteville Presbytery again led all other Sunday Schools of the Synod last year in individual per capita giving with an average of $2.48 per Sunday School member, and Kings Mountain Presbytery led the other eight Presbyteries with an average of 33.6 cents per member. This is the identical lineup at the close of 1934-1935.

Concord First Sunday School had an average of $1.95 per member to be runner-up to Olivia, displacing Warrenton Sunday School which was dropped back to third position this year. Concord First Sunday School went from fifth place to second during the year. Concord Presbytery also forged ahead to second place in the Presbytery standing with an average of 31.5 cents per member. Winston-Salem Presbytery was in second position a year ago, but slipped back to fourth place, Fayetteville advancing a notch ahead of Winston-Salem.

Five of the Presbyteries, Concord, Kings Mountain, Orange and Wilmington, showed gains in per capita Sunday School averages, while the others fell behind the average at the close of the 1934-1935 year. Concord made the most substantial gain, advancing 4.5 cents per Sunday School member.

Over a two-year period, seven

DIFFERENT ARRANGEMENT GIVEN OF CONTRIBUTIONS

From month to month a table of receipts is published in The Barium Messenger, being prepared on the basis of per capita giving by the various Presbyteries This is fine as an index to the giving of each Presbytery according to membership, but perhaps a more equitable table would be one based upon the manner in which each Presbytery is supporting it own children.

For instance, if the children accepted into the Orphanage were admitted on the basis of church membership in each Presbytery some of the Presbyteries would have to look elsewhere to place their children because they have more than would be allowed on a Presbytery membership basis. Admitting children, of course, would never be on that basis, for the cases are carefully reviewed, regardless of the Presbytery, and admittance is based upon the circumstances and need. It has been figured out at Barium how many children would be allowed, though, on the membership basis.

When Barium officials divided the number of children from each Presbytery into the amount contributed during 1935-1936, it was found that Mecklenburg Presbytery leads the other eight, making better provision for its children than any other. In the per capita

Read and Rejoice

The Ladies' Bible Class of Badin Sunday School in Mecklenburg Presbytery has voted to send the Orphanage $2.00 a month, and the first gift came in June. That Class made a special contribution of $10.00 last year, but will more than double that giving in 1936-1937

Gulf Sunday School in Orange Presbytery has adopted the offering-per-month plan and has sent the initial contribution to Barium.

The Neal Anderson Bible Class of the Winston-Salem First Church has been sending $ 2.00 a month to the Orphanage for the past several years which is approximately the minimum amount of support of a child. However, that Class has decided to give all of one Sunday's Offering in lieu of this. The plan was adopted in May, and a gift of $36.00 was made - $14.00 more than that which is usually sent.

Another party, interested in his Sunday School adopting the offering-per-month plan, has guaranteed the literature costs of his Sunday School. It was maintained that this couldn't been done for the Orphanage and the local needs be met also This individual felt differently, and to prove his contention this guarantee was given. The name of that Sunday School has already been mentioned in a previous issue of The Messenger. This is the second such guarantee, and the first party did not have to make up any deficit in literature costs.

Covenant Auxiliary in Kings Mountain Presbytery will send $2.00 a month this year instead of the $1.00 per month contributed in 1935-1936. Erwin Auxiliary in Fayetteville Presbytery now has three Circles instead of two, and will therefore send Barium $3.00 a month, as against the $2.00 per month given last year.

WILL THERE BE MORE GOOD NEWS FOR JULY'S ISSUE OF THE PAPER?

53 SUNDAY SCHOOLS IN $100.00 CLASSIFICATION

Fifty-three Sunday Schools in the Synod of North Carolina contributed as much as $100.00 regularly to the Orphanage last year, which is exclusive of what was done at Thanksgiving. There were nine new-comers to this classification. Five of those in the grouping in 1934-1935 were unable to reach $100.00 in regular giving during the past 12 months. Had these five been able to maintain last year's record it would have meant 58 Sunday Schools accomplishing this feat. Two years ago there were 36 Sunday Schools

Milk - Meat - Melody

The department we are writing about this month is the dairy. It is the home of something like 90 musical beeves that are about the busiest inhabitants at Barium Springs.

Of course, a cow never does seem to be in a hurry, and yet she has to eat faster than she can chew it in order to get enough stored away to produce the milk that is necessary to make her a paying project. She has to spend most of her day-light hours just swallowing her food; and then when she is asleep, finish up with the chewing. The cow is one animal that does not seem to have any sympathy at all for the Blue Eagle. The NRA means nothing to her. Seven days a week and twenty-four hours a day is her stint, and she does not seem to pay any attention to national holidays, the fourth commandment, or anything else, but crowds into the few years between the time she is an awkward little calf until she is a graceful beef-steak, in doing an amazing lot of growing and in giving an amazing milk production, too.

The Barium dairy has 50 cows in the milk herd. This sometimes drops as low as 40; sometimes runs as high as 65. The production of milk varies from 100 gallons a day to 150 gallons, provides ample milk for drinking, usually for all three meals every day. The annual production averages 45,000 gallons!

This milk is sufficient to provide ice cream every week during the summer and for birthday dinners during the winter. That means once a month during the winter and once a week during the summer. Twenty to twenty-five beeves are supplied by the dairy herd every year and this constitutes the entire beef ration for the Orphanage.

The farm supplies the dairy with the necessary hay for rough feeding, straw for bedding, ensilage, and a good part of the grain. The grain is ground up with cottonseed meal, wheat bran and other ingredients to make a balanced ration suitable for the particular time of year and the flow of milk.

The needs of the dairy vary from year to year and the production of the farm varies. So that there are some years in which the extra large crops from the farm more than supply the dairy needs. There are other years of drought or storm when the production of the farm does not meet the dairy needs. In order to keep this from embarrassing us we try to store the surplus of the fat years to take care of the lean years. The year 1935 was a fairly fat year; 1934 was also one in which a surplus was laid by. This resulted in some 80 tons of the very choicest alfalfa hay being baled and stored away in a barn as a surplus to draw on in case of a shortage; and this was the hay that was burnt in the fire that we had last September. Now, 1936 looks like it is going to be a rather bad year. Our first cutting of alfalfa was extremely short and the second cutting, so far, hasn't developed, as it has not rained at Barium Springs since the first cutting. However, we don't want to talk about this in this article, as we are talking about the dairy.

The fire that we have mentioned destroyed the milk barn of the dairy. It seems a miracle that it did not destroy two other barns, but the efficient fire fighting of the local folk and the Statesville fire department confined it to one barn.

In rebuilding this barn, we added some improvements that were very much needed. (This old barn had been in use over 20 years) and now the milk is handled at this new barn, and is ready for the table immediately after milking.

Let us describe the old method of handling the milk and the new:

The old method: The milk was milked into 5-gallon cans at the barn. It was then taken to the milk house up near Rumple Hall, and run over an aerater and cooler which reduced the temperature to around 70 degrees. It was then stored away in the cold storage and in something like 12 hours the temperature had been lowered to where it was good to drink. In this time, of course, the cream had risen and it was not always well-mixed when it was put back on the table. Sometimes it happened that some tables would get much richer milk (no matter how careful the instructions were to the contrary).

The new method: It is strained up at the barn and goes into a special milk room there, where it is again strained and aerated, going over a cooler which reduces the temperature to 40 degrees. It then goes immediately to the dining room and is used for drinking purposes before the cream has even started to rise and while the bacteria content is extremely low. It tastes so good that you would just have

Delay in May

Did you notice that the May issue of The Messenger was about 15 days late in reaching you? That was caused by a breakdown on the press. Parts had to be ordered from a firm in Michigan and were late in arriving. As soon as the parts came and were installed the printing office force worked with such vim that it is believed a record was made in printing, folding, stamping and mailing the 22,000 copies. Part of the allotment was placed in the mail on May 29th, and the remainder on the 30th. Commendation should be heaped upon the printing office staff for the manner in which it functions at all times, but special commendation for the way it expeditiously handled the May issue when once the press started to turn.

to drink it, even if it were not so good for you.

The schedule of the dairy crew is as follows:

Up in the morning with the regular crowd and finishing breakfast at 6:45. The cows are already in the barn; ready to be milked School commences at 8:30. Between 6:45 and 8:30, 50 cows have to be milked. This milk has to be taken care of, utensils cleaned up, the cows put back in the feed barn, or the pasture (depending on the time of year), and a little cleaning up done around the barn. Then to school.

The dairy boss and his assistant have to keep the cows company until 2:30 in the afternoon when the boys come from school. Then the real heavy cleaning up is done and then the bedding up. If you are a housekeeper, you would say "wash the dishes and make up the beds." The cows don't have to have their teeth brushed, but they do have to have their hair combed; and these jobs take a long time when you are taking care of 80 head of cattle.

By 4 P. M. it is time to milk again. The cows are put in the milk-barn, curried, cleaned up, milked, and put back into the feed barns, and then the milk-barn cleaned up and feed put out for the morning milking, before the boys can call the day "a day".

Now this goes on every day in the week. The routine is varied a little bit for holidays. On Saturday afternoons half of the boys do the milking; the other half are free to go to Statesville or to do as they please. The next Saturday the other half do the milking and the ones who were busy last Saturday have that Saturday afternoon off. The boys' duties are divided into several divisions. The newcomers to the dairy group are clean-up and feed-up boys. Their work is sometimes a little dirty and sometimes a little dusty. They gradually learn to milk and then they become milkers. As they become more and more efficent in milking, they become strippers; and the strippers check up on the milkers.

When they become more careful and proficient they become milk-house boys—the ones who take charge of the milk, see that it is weighed up, properly strained, aerated, put into cans and delivered to the dining room or cold storage, as the case may be. This is a very responsible job and a boy who is careless in this particular division of the work, soon finds himself back among the milkers or as a clean-up boy.

There are about 40 boys in the dairy group, 10 to 16 years old. When that many boys get under one roof and all get to talking, they keep the atmosphere pretty well agitated. We don't know whether this has any effect on the cows or not, but we have our suspicions. Anyway, someone suggested that cows were supposed to give more milk to music than without music; so a victrola was installed and there was quite a difference in the amount of milk produced. And something that was not looked for, the dairy boss fattened up! And got over his hoarseness! You can draw your own conclusions as to how this music affected the dairy group. The boys who work in the dairy are very much attached to the cows that they have as their responsibility and take a lively interest in the calves as they come along.

Several years ago a calf was born that was too small to reach its dining room table The boys had to hold it on their laps while it got its nourishment from its mother. The calf was so grateful for this that it did not seem to recognize its mother as a source of nourishment at all, and would pay no attention to her at all when she was near it. But the calf would run after the boys and bawl and take on at a terrible rate until they picked it up and carried it to its mother for its morning or afternoon meal.

"Onions in the milk!" Did you ever hear that in the spring of the year? Well, we have plenty of wild onions in our pastures. The onion taste used to get into the milk, but not now. Just a boy's idea, but it worked. This boy may have gotten the idea from his own experience some day when he arrived at the dining room late and found that all of a particular article had been eaten up before he got there. His idea was just this: Turn the dry cows in the pasture for about a week before the milk cows go. They all like those onions better than anything in the pasture and by the time the milk cows get there, there's not enough onions left for them to even taint the milk. That is the plan we have used since this boy had that idea and we have not been bothered by onions in the milk.

The pastures that our flocks use in the summer are rather extensive. There is one that is called the "five-mile" pasture. That's the distance around the fence; and you can depend on a hungry cow locating a weak place in that fence very promptly.

There are times when our pasture gets short, due to dry weather; it is then that these weak points are often located and the cow that goes through evidently says: "Come on, girls, let's go picnicking!" That's when we hear frantic calls from some neighbor that an avalanche of cattle is bearing down on their roasting-ear patch or something. And that calls for just as strenuous action as a fire! If left unnoticed it is as disastrous as a fire; and the dairy crew have to be organized to answer these calls on a moment's notice.

The big milking job is not a hard job. In fact, during threshing time, the dairy boys are through with their work long before the farm boys are thinking of getting through. The same thing happens during harvest and during canning time for the truck farmers and orchard crew, but it is so regular. Every day the same thing must be done. Even on football days, those cows just have to be milked! Now, when our football games are as early as 3 o'clock the cows are milked after the game; but when the games are as late as four o'clock, the boys try to milk beforehand. If you should be strolling down through the dairy barn on days like that you will hear a muttering which you can interpret as being something like this: "Come on cow, let down your milk; I got no time to fool with you today. There is a ball game that I want to see, so back your leg and let's have it!"

Our dairy boss is Mr. Ervin Jackins. He is a young man who grew up at Barium and who has been a most valuable worker here for the last nine years. Jackins has many other duties besides that of dairy boss. He is coach in nearly all our athletics. He has as his assistant at the present time, Ralph Spencer, a graduate of the Class of 1936. For the year just before that Cheek Freeman, a member of the Class of 1935, was his assistant; and before that, John Elliott. These assistants take charge of the afternoon work and assist the dairy boss in the morning when the dairy boys are in school.

The dairy group of boys is a tight little organization. It is the largest group of boys on one job at Barium. They all live at Alexander Cottage and that may be one reason why Alexander Cottage is so hard to beat in any of the games that they go into

The Lees boys (about the same age) are divided up among the truck farm, farm, and orchard groups and they do not get together except at recreation time

The dairy boys are together at school; they are together at the work; and together at their recreation, and sometimes they can find a few minutes between odd jobs to toss a football around or to have a young marble tournament. They are a friendly lot of boys. They will do almost anything for you and let you do almost anything to them, except pick on the cows!

There was a boy from another group one time who got a little impatient with one of the cows and kicked her. The boy whose regular job it was to milk that cow, stepped up to this boy and said: "Here boy, mind who you're kicking. Just one more crack like that and I'll knock you loose from your inferiority complex!" And that boy seemed to understand just what that meant.

The dairy boys do not have as nice a building to live in as the other boys. That has been a source of disappointment to all of us for years. Alexander Cottage was never intended as a dormitory. It has been used as a dormitory for 17 years. We hope the day will come when the dairy boys will have a building in line with the other buildings on the campus and in line with their fine spirit of loyalty and faithfulness to their work.

The boys at Barium learn lots of things in the different departments here. We think they learn to be faithful and dependable in the dairy, and that sticks with them all the way through. The boys that have plugged through most successfully in college have at one time been dairy boys.

Look them up when you come to Barium. We haven't near told you all about them in this short article.

TIME AND TONE

From The Home Chronicle.

Sometime ago a welfare worker in a nearby county in a communication to a local newspaper was complaining because of his inability to place children in any orphanage. He stated that there were quite a number of children in his county who ought to be in an orphanage but every attempt to place them there was met with the report that the orphanage was full and could take no additional children. He thought that it would be a good plan for his county to establish an orphanage. He argued that this could readily be done, that what was necessary was to get an appropriation, build a house where children, denied a home elsewhere, would be placed, give them something to eat and to wear, and provide an opportunity for them to work and to go to school. The proposition seemed very simple. The orphanage has never been established.

It takes a lot of money to secure a suitable orphanage plant. A recent audit shows that the Children's Home has invested $282,415 in grounds and farms. It has invested $509,358 in buildings. The audit further shows that we have $43,696 invested in machinery and equipment and $57,780 in furniture and fixtures. It is evident from the foregoing that an investment of $893,249 has been made in what is known as permanent funds at the Children's Home. By far the greater portion of this money has come to us in the form of special donations, over and above the usual sources of income for maintenance and up-keep. It has taken a great deal of money to establish the plant here at the Children's Home. Endowment funds are not included in the above listed permanent assets.

After an orphanage is built it takes quite a long time for a proper spirit to be developed. Children of varied temperaments and gifts and gathered from various areas cannot come into a new situation and be directed by new workers without making many adjustments. As years unfold and experiences have accumulated a morale, or tone, can be built up. This comes through the type of people who direct the orphanage's activities.

The Children's Home workers, assembled at a recent meeting for discussing policy and procedure, were asked whether or not our institution had any distinguishing characteristics. The particular question propounded was, "Does the Children's Home have an outstanding tone?" There was some hesitancy about answering. Of course, everyone present thought that the Children's Home was second to none in the work it was doing for orphan children, yet there was some hesitancy in presenting an outstanding citation.

With the children there is something about our institution which they call "the Children's Home spirit" that challenges their very best efforts. When everything else has failed to make an impression on a youngster he can usually be reached by a challenge to uphold the spirit of the Children's Home. This spirit calls for fair play, honest dealing, straightforward action and a worthwhileness that commends itself to supporting friends. Our children feel that the Children's Home is decidedly good, that it stands for the very best in human values. The Children's Home song, sung so frequently by our youngsters, ends in this wise, "For I am proud of the Children's Home, and I'll make her proud of me!"

An orphanage can't be built in a day. It can't be built in a year. When it has been built, time is needed to practice through processes of human endeavor the securing of a spirit which is conducive to proper attitudes and desirable conduct. Of course health safeguards, educational facilities, work schedules and a lot of other things enter into the making of a home for children, but the tone of the place will direct to a large extent the success with which these means are transferred into human values.

OF HOW MUCH VALUE?

By J. B. A. in Cincinnati (Ohio) Children's Record:

According to Bulletin No. 424, Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, it costs the State of Ohio 57 cents a day to keep a cow. In estimating the cost of one day of Bossy's pilgrimage through life, the amounts paid for food, bedding, veterinary care, ordinary labor, barn, equipment, interest, taxes, and depreciation are included.

One of my relatives who carefully keeps a record of farm costs writes me that the daily outlay for keeping a horse in good condition is 56 cents. A horse menu includes oats, corn, wheat bran, gluten feed, linseed oil meal, cotton seed oil meal, timothy hay, alfalfa, mixed clover hay, salt corn stover, and water. It costs a careful farmer $75.00 a year in labor to keep his horse looking well. To the actual cost of food and labor must be added interest, taxes, and depreciation charges on buildings and animals.

The daily cost of keeping a cow is 57 cents a day. The daily expense of caring for a horse is 56 cents. After ten years, a cow is yet a cow and horse is still a horse.

It costs The Children's Home 99 cents a day to keep a child in a boarding home. This baby boy must be taught to walk, to use his mother tongue, to wash and bathe, to dress himself, to eat the proper foods, and to protect himself against cold, fire, disease, and the danger of highways and heights. He must learn to be a social being. All the intricate and fine adjustments of his individual self so necessary to share the life of family, school, clubs, lodges, church, political party, and industrial organizations he must painfully and toilfully acquire. Through many an advance and rebuff he must discover whom he should love, what causes should have his loyalty, what values should be sought with deathless devotion. Through childhood and youth he must have assistance in learning to speak the truth, to be just, to be friendly and humane. It is a long, rough road from innocent babyhood to wise citizenship in our perplexed world.

The Children's Home believes that our baby grown to manhood is not only a citizen of the world but also a resident of the universe. He is not only a child of Time; he is a son of eternity. He must not only love the odor of flowers and the song of birds. Also should he wonder at sunrises and blow before the majesty of stars. He must feel the exultant throb of new life in recognizing that he is one of the beloved sons of his Heavenly Father.

It costs 57 cents a day to keep a cow. For a few years the cow remains a cow and then is no more.

It costs 56 cents a day to provide properly for a horse. After some brief years of usefulness, a horse perishes and is forgotten.

It costs 99 cents per day to rear a boy. By and by this boy becomes a man. He participates in the social heritage of all preceding generations. In his turn he maintains and increases the human values won through tens of thousands of years of toil and sacrifice. He knows the meaning of love, truth, honor, and loyalty. He comes to believe that the universe is his home and that the Eternal God claims him as His son. For such a boy and man Death is the beginning of new life.

APRIL AND MAY INCOME

In the first two month of 1936-1937, a total of $3,173.59 has been received from the Synod of North Carolina. Of this amount, Sunday Schools have sent $1,963 84, or 61.9%; the church budgets have forwarded $647.55 or 20.4%; the Auxiliaries have given $561.74, or 17.7%, and $0.46 has come from a Young People's Society, which is a negligible percentage.

This distribution is shown as follows:

Month	Ch.	S. S.	Aux.
April	$148.44	$ 858.90	$237 57
May	499.11	1104.94	324.17
Totals	$647.55	$1963.84	$561.74

Final Thanksgiving

When books were finally and officially closed on April 16th for the 1935-1936 fiscal year, a compilation of the 1935 Thanksgiving Offering was made. It showed a grand total of $44,454.56, which was an increase of $6,643.25 over the 1934 Thanksgiving Offering of $37,811.31. Compared with the 1933 Thanksgiving response of $29,261.56, the increase last fall was $15,193.00 for the two-year period.

Mecklenburg Presbytery led all others in the Thanksgiving increases. That Presbytery gave $3,994.65 more than in 1934. Orange Presbytery was runner-up with a Thanksgiving aggregate that was $1,025.61 greater than the '34 total, while the other seven Presbyteries showed the following increases: Granville, $724.09; Kings Mountain, $684.63; Concord, $682.39; Albemarle, $208.29; Fayetteville, $206.32; Wilmington, $104.74, and Winston-Salem $12.53.

Extensive efforts have been made in the past two years to increase the Thankgiving Offering, and a comparison of 1933 and 1935 increases is more comparable. Mecklenburg maintains her leadership, the two-year jump being $4,602.37, with Concord Presbytery close on her heels with $4,091.20 more than in 1933. Other larger sums for the two-year period are: Orange, $2,529.36; Fayetteville $1,328.50; Granville, $931.99; Kings Mountain, $762.28; Albemarle, $496.60; Wilmington, $412.77, and Winston-Salem, $18.80.

The final Thanksgiving totals for 1934 and 1935, arranged according to Presbyteries, are as follows:

	1934 Final	1935 Final
Albemarle	$1,963.61	$2,171.90
Concord	8,979.33	9,661.72
Fayetteville	3,828.41	4,034.73
Granville	2,457.19	3,181.28
Kings Mountain	2,121.43	2,806.06
Mecklenburg	7,690.35	10,685.00
Orange	5,810.68	6,836.29
Wilmington	2,037.57	2,142.31
Winston-Salem	2,922.74	2,935.27
Totals	$37,811.31	$44,454.56

Of the 507 churches or mission points which reported Thanksgiving Offerings either in 1934 or in 1935, 290 of them showed increases last Thanksgiving, and 217 of them gave the Orphanage less than they contributed in Thanksgiving of 1934. Of the 290 that showed increases, 103 of them gave the best Thanksgiving responses in 10 years.

A tabulation of this information by Presbyteries follows:

Presbytery	Increase	Decrease	Best in 10 Yr.
Albemarle	22	13	9
Concord	39	23	15
Fayetteville	43	40	12
Granville	22	18	8
Kings Mountain	21	15	9
Mecklenburg	55	27	23
Orange	33	24	11
Wilmington	35	31	9
Winston-Salem	20	20	7

JULY BIRTHDAYS

Children at the Orphanage having birthdays in July and who will have the delight and pleasure and joy of sitting down together at the birthday table next month are:

Louise Everett, Jack Mangum, May Allen Barrett, Ruth Monroe, Mable Vinson, Doris Rippey, Marjorie Lail, Mary Ann McCormick, Olive Gaskill, Gastone Alessandrini, Joe Long, Lester May, Pleas Norman, Henry Stricklin, David Burney, Billy McCall, James Porter, Clyde May, Thomas Morgan, Ray Clendenin, Fred Johnson. Lee Spencer.

SUNDAY SCHOOL GIVING PER MEMBERSHIP FOR 1935-1936 YEAR

Below you will see the per capita giving of Sunday Schools in the Synod which have contributed regularly or sent special gifts to the Orphanage, WITH THE EXCEPTION OF THANKSGIVING OFFERINGS, during the 1934-1935 and 1935-1936 fiscal periods. The first arrangement is within the Presbyteries and the tabulation at the bottom is a numerical arrangement of the leading Sunday Schools in the Synod, which averaged as much as 50 cents per member regularly. Sunday School memberships recorded in the Minutes of the General Assembly were used; when none was given, the church membership was used. Sunday Schools of Anderson in Albemarle Presbytery and Hannah Picket Community Sunday School No. 2 in Mecklenburg Presbytery also aided, but memberships were not known. If your Sunday School is not included it was because offerings-per-month, fifth Sunday responses and special gifts were not sent to Barium.

Cottage News

SYNOD'S

Hi Folks:

Here we are again, telling you what has happened during the last month.

Vacation-time is here. Some of our boys have gone on theirs already and more are going in the next week or two. We are hoping that they will have a nice time.

Gastone Alessandrini, one of our boys, went with Miss Taylor to Mooresville and had a nice dinner with Miss Polly Sheaf.

We have a new girl working at our cottage. Her name is Johnnie Burgin. We like her very much.

Raymond Good, one of our boys, broke his arm. It is a lot better now.

We are going in swimming now regularly and all of us enjoy it very much.

Our cottage has been working. Its job has been cleaning up the campus for the last week or two.

Mr. Sams invited us to see "Everybody's Old Man". We enjoyed it very much. Thanks are extended to him.

HOWARD

Hello Folks:

We have been having a good time playing since school closed.

Lillie Bryant, May Lynn Jones and Lorene Brown have moved to Rumple Hall. We miss them, but hope they like to wait on tables and wash dishes.

It has been very, very dry and we have to carry water to our flowers.

Hattie Mckee is on her vacation now and several more of our girls go this month.

Miss Woods and some of the girls are painting our beds and we are enjoying sleeping on the floor.

Mr. Sams invited us to see "Everybody's Old Man" and we sure enjoyed it.

Since school closed the following girls have recited the Shorter Catechism: Ruth Cole, Sara Parcell, Emma Eudy, Geraldine Blue, and Evelyn Copedge. Those reciting the Child's Catechism were Rachel Mills, Margaret Presnell, Annie Sue Wilson, Mary Johnston, Mabel Vinson, Elaine Faircloth, Juanita McMasters, and Beulah Baldwin. A few more of the girls are trying to recite either the Shorter Catechism or Child's Catechism.

We are glad to have Betty Adams and Mabel Billings, who have come to make their home with us.

—Mary Sheaf

FINAL DISTRIBUTION

The final distribution of the $40,966. 75 which was received regularly by the Orphanage during 1935-1936 shows tht the Sunday Schools contributed$16,490 62, the church budget alloted $15,148.-24, the Auxilaries gave $9,253.27 and $74.62 was received from the Young People's Societies. This is confirmed to contributions to the support fund alone; neither does it include Thanksgiving Offerings. The above figures reveal that the Sunday Schoolswere responsible for 40.2% of the Orphanage's regular income, 37% came from church budgets, 22.6% was contributed by the Auxilaries and .2% was given by Young People's groups.

Mecklenburg Presbytery led in the amount reported from church budgets, Concord was the leader in Sunday School giving and Auxilaries in Orange Presbytery had first honor distinctinon in that field.

The dristribution of the income according to the three main sources and by Presbyteries is as follows:

Pres.	Ch.	S. S.	Aux.
Albe.	$ 673.96	$ 842.31	$1211.9[illegible]

giving, Mecklenburg ranked fourth at the end of the year. Wilmington Presbytery contributes the smallest amount for each child at the Orphanage from the Presbytery, and it likewise ranks ninth in the per capita giving from that Presbytery.

A table, prepared on the basis of children from each Presbytery, shows the following (the first column of figures is the rank in per capita giving, as shown in the May issue of the paper):

Presbytery	Per Capita Rank	On Basis of Children
Mecklenburg	4th	1st
Orange	5th	2nd
Concord	2nd	3rd

Winston-Salem	1st	8th
Wilmington	9th	9th

S. S. Meals

If Sunday Schools give during the next 10 months as they gave in April and May, and show a proportionate increase, then such organizations will contribute almost $2,000.00 more to Barium than was sent regularly to the Orphanage during 1935-1936. That is based on the record of a two-month increase of $385.04. The gifts were individually and collectively better than for the same months of 1935.

Between eight and nine cents is the cost of a meal per child at Barium, but for the sake of easy figuring ten cents per meal is used. On that score, the Sunday School gifts would have served the following number of meals for the past three years:

Month	'34-'35	'35-'36	'36-'37
April	6,218	4,840	8,589
May	10,659	10,948	11,049

53 SUNDAY SCHOOLS IN

giving as much as $100.00 regularly to Barium.

Concord First Sunday School leads all others with a total of $726.33. Winston-Salem First was the leader in 1934-1935. Salisbury First forged ahead also to send Winston-Salem to third position.

The five which had to be dropped from the list were Wilson First, Huntersville, Church of the Covenant in Greensboro, Spray and Mocksville.

New-comers to the group included Hickory First, Rocky River, Rutherfordton, Rockingham, Burlington First, High Point First, Reidsville, Sanford and Graves Memorial.

To get into this classification, Rocky River sent $50.00 as its final gift instead of the usual $25.00. In 11 months Graves Memorial had sent $65.03, but that Sunday School sent $34.97 for March to reach that grouping. Reidsville had sent $82.10 for 11 months, but sent a check for $25.00 for March for the honor of being thus classified. Bethesda (F), Mooresville First, Warrenton, and Thyatira all sent substantial sums for March to remain in the $100.00 class. And, when the March gifts of every Sunday School are compared with the Offerings of other months it is seen that at least 60% of them send the best monthly Offering in March to close out a great year of giving to the Orphanage by the Sunday Schools.

As previously stated in these articles, contributing as much as $100.00 regularly is not the true criterion of giving. Contributions on the basis of membership represents that, and many Sunday Schools who can't give as much as $100.00 regularly have a much higher average than some of the 53 Sunday Schools accomplishing this. However, considerable interest has been developed among many of the Sunday Schools in their efforts to reach the $100.00 classification, and this list is therefore published in the belief that it will inspire others.

At least a half-dozen additional Sunday Schools are already "gunning" for the $100.00 grouping by the end of 1936-1937, and it is hoped that those which "fell from the ranks" during the year just closed will return to the "fold" before March 31, 1937.

The 53 Sunday Schools, membership of each and the total amount contributed are as follows:

Sunday School	Mem.	Amount
Concord First	373	$726.33
